

PILOT: Speedbird three seven eight.

ATC: Pass your message.

PILOT: Out of our three crew members, when we went through that severe turbulence a short while ago, we think two have got broken bits and one's damaged his back, which leaves me one serviceable crew member. We're... hopefully all the passengers are fine but we'll probably need medical attention on, arrival, if possible, if you could pass that message on.

ATC: Okay we advise the medical service on the airport.

PILOT: That's very kind. Thank you very much.

ATC: Okay, but is any... the people, er, are wounded or they are bleeding or... ?

PILOT: We've got, yeah, one crew member who's got a nasty gash on her leg. We've got and possibly a broken bone. We've got another crew member with a broken hand and possibly a broken hand, and another crew member with a, er, damaged back.

ATC: Okay. We advised the medical service.

PILOT: Thank you very much, sir.
